A Chat with an LCGRM Guest By Cheryl Young

As case manager, it is part of my duties to get to know the guests at the Las Cruces Gospel Rescue Mission (LCGRM). I sat down and chatted with one of the guests the other day. I asked the guest how he first heard about LCGRM. He stated that he was having financial difficulties and soon would not have a place to live. One of the men who attended his church told him about LCGRM and suggested that he leave his town and come live here. At first he was relieved that he had a place to go, but soon was anxious about living among a group of people who may be on drugs and have other problems. He was unsure how he would deal with this. He realizes that LCGRM provides an opportunity to see people as they really are. He observes the various excuses guests use to explain their behavior. It also gives him and others exposure to people that they normally would not be around. It affords opportunities to witness. Some of the lessons God has taught him while living at LCGRM are as follows.

- He must continue to trust in God.
- God has things under control.
- He must continue to treat others the way he wants to be treated.
- God's mercy and grace were demonstrated to him by providing LCGRM to live.
- It allows him the opportunity to show grace and mercy to the other guests at LCGRM.

He thinks that his future is still a wild card and he has no idea what will happen. He is, however, still a guest at LCGRM. The Chapel speakers show a wide cross section of the Church and what they believe. It definitely gives a good picture of the modern Church.

Ambassador Ministry Tour—May 9th

We had a wonderful tour of the LC-GRM facilities (both old and upcoming) followed by a luncheon for our Ambassador ministry. Evelyn, Ron, and Brian led the tour through the kitchen, dorm rooms, chapel, and outside on our campus. Many good questions were asked and answered. All guests were then treated to a steak lunch with all the trimmings.

Peace. You are the God of peace. In a world of noise, confusion, and relentless pressures, people long for peace. Many give up the search, thinking it impossible to find, but true peace of heart and mind is available to us through faith in Jesus Christ.

“I have told you these things, so that in me you may have peace. In this world you will have trouble. But take heart! I have overcome the world.” - John 16:33

Construction updates!

Because of the tour of the facility by the Ambassador ministry group, we were able to get El Paso Electric over to complete the inspections and placement of the pole. Thank you to the unnamed Ambassador who made the necessary connections we needed.

Also, in the pictures to the left, you can see that our NEW building has arrived and the concrete for the building was poured in early June. We are excited about moving ahead to provide better food services, shelter, and meals to all in need. Thanks to all of our monthly donors. If you would like to contribute, please go online to:

Your compassion through donations, volunteering, or attending Ambassador meetings is a huge blessing to us. Thank you for caring about our “people without homes” community.
